Equity Market

Market sentiment remained upbeat in October as the NGX All-Share Index rose 8.00% month-on-month to 154,126.46 points. This translated to a ₦7.25 trillion increase in market capitalization, which closed at ₦97.83 trillion, up from ₦90.58 trillion in September. The strong performance was largely driven by robust 9M 2025 earnings across key sectors. Sector performance was broadly positive, with the Industrial Goods Index leading gains at 17.50% month-on-month, supported by sustained demand in DANGCEM (+25.69% m/m) and BUACEMENT (+12.50% m/m). The Oil & Gas Index advanced 15.45% following a significant rally in ARADEL (+27.15% m/m), while the Consumer Goods Index rose 4.85% on strength in BUAFODDS (+9.97% m/m). The Insurance Index gained 3.40%, lifted by ALICO (+11.71% m/m) and CUSTODIAN (+4.44% m/m). In contrast, the Banking Index declined 3.15% due to persistent sell pressure on banking stocks.

Fixed Income Market

At the Nigerian Treasury Bills secondary market, average yields moderated by 39bps month-on-month to 17.47% in October, down from 17.85% in September. Also, The FGN domestic bond papers, average yields narrowed by 42bps to close at 15.77%.

Outlook

We expect a mixed equity market as investors track CBN MPC guidance and the potential impact of the 30% Capital Gains Tax on sentiment. Although moderating inflation, FX stability, improving GDP trends, and projected declines in fixed-income yields provide support, they may only drive modest gains. Profit-taking and dividend mark-downs could pressure select stocks. In fixed income, yields are likely to decline further on strong liquidity, expected rate cuts, better macro fundamentals, and smaller primary auction allotments.
